Wednesday's Storm.

A severe storm passed over this town early Wednesday afternoon, and one of its features was a startling clap of thunder, such as was never before experienced in this locality, according to statements of venerable citizens. The storm had apparently passed over, the rain had ceased, and the sunlight broke through the clouds, when people were brought up with a sudden turn by an unexpected and terrific crash. Glenwood avenue people rushed out of their stores to ascertain what had been struck. The only damage done was to a tree in Conger street, which was split in two by a bolt of lightning.

There was a heavy fall of rain, which flooded the streets, and it caused several washouts. The Second River overflowed its banks, but did no damage.

A flash of lightning caused a panic among a number of Italian employees on the new Lackawanna Railroad freight house near Conger street, and they tumbled all over each other in their haste to get away from what they thought was certain death.

Threatened Chancery Suit.

There is some dissatisfaction among the members of Essex Truck Company over the dividing up of the insurance money recently received by the company for its loss in the fire at the truck house. The basis of division was four dollars to each member for each year's service in the company.

On this basis the amount each received varied from four dollars up to eighty dollars. Some of those who received small amount claim that the money should have been divided share and share-like irrespective of the length of service, and one of them has consulted a lawyer in order to learn if such a contention cannot be enforced. If the case is carried into court it is expected that there will be a lively time in fire circles.

Some of the exempt members of Essex who did not share in the division, while they do not approve of the course pursued in dividing up the insurance money claim that when it was decided to divide it should have been done on an equal basis, and later members were entitled to the same amount as older members.

To Guard Crossings.

As a result of the narrow escape of an Orange and Passaic Valley trolley car at the Erie crossing on Washington street, Orange, last week, the company has introduced a new regulation that all cars must stop thirty feet away from the crossing, the conductor to run forward and signal the motorman, who, after looking back to see that all is right, must go forward at speed enough to clear the crossing if the trolley comes off. No derailing switches or troughs have been placed yet, and patrons of the line say they will not be satisfied until these devices are installed.

Johnson-Ronk.

A pleasant home wedding took place Wednesday evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ronk, No. 49 Myrtle street, when their daughter, Miss Olive Ronk, and Cedric Johnson of Spruce street, this town, were united in wedlock.

Rev. O. F. Moore, assistant rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Orange, officiated at the ceremony. The bridesmaid was Miss Kate Meeker of Orange, and Herman Gebhardt of this town was best man.

The bride was prettily attired in a costume of white French organdie, and carried white bridal roses. The bridesmaid also wore white, and carried pink roses. Guests from this town and Orange were present. A collation followed the wedding service.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will reside in this town.

Boyd Council's New Member.

James T. Boyd Council, Jr., O. U. A. M., held a lively session Monday night. The occasion was a fraternal visit from Elizabeth Council, No. 181. The visitors arrived here by trolley and marched from the Centre to James T. Boyd Council's rooms led by a fife and drum corps and a large and lively "billy" goat. In the course of the evening the goat was formally presented to James T. Boyd Council with the compliments of Elizabeth Council and assurances that he was "all right."

"Foxy Grandpa" was appointed a committee of one from Boyd Council to inspect the goat. On receiving a favorable report from him "Billy" was taken into full benefit, and was the subject of much oratorical eulogy. "Billy" will hereafter be used in working the Third and O. D. degrees in Boyd Council, and candidates for membership can anticipate a hot time.

It was midnight when the visitors departed for home, after a night of royal entertainment at the hands of the local Council. The parting injunction was, "Take good care of 'Billy.'"

Exceptional Shawl Values

These cool evenings demand just the sort of shoulder coverings we tell of in to-day's underprice story. Indispensable for mountain, seashore, trolley and carriage wear—and furthermore, they're priced for this occasion, at figures decidedly less than you have cause to expect. Worsted, Ice-wool and Silk, fashioned in manners correct and embodying every element of comfort and practicability. Here's a bare outline of what the shawl store has prepared.

Worsted Shawls—You'll say this is the biggest ever. A yard square, fancy border, all white. Actually worth 50c, special ..... More than 25c

Fascinators—Pink, Blue, Red and Black. Fancy pattern, very pretty, and just right for present wear 39c

Worsted Shawls—A most desirable number, fancy scallop pattern, silk stitched and fancy border. A good value at 75c

Fascinators—White, Pink, Black, Light Blue and Grey. Pretty shell design and fancy edge. An exceptional value at this price 98c

Worsted Capes—Fine wool, pretty design, very full circular, 20 inches long and very pretty 98c

Circular Capes—Of extra fine wool, fancy design, shell pattern. Seir, pink or light blue border 1.50

Worsted Capes—A beauty, closely knit, Pink, Blue and White, solid colors, 10-inch border, self color. A grand value at 1.98

Have You Bought Your Furs?

It's truly amazing the number of people who are wisely making their selections during this sale. The advantages of August buying are obvious. In addition to the special midsummer special prices you have the privilege, upon payment of reasonable deposit, of having present purchases reserved until December 1st, and paying as you see fit.
